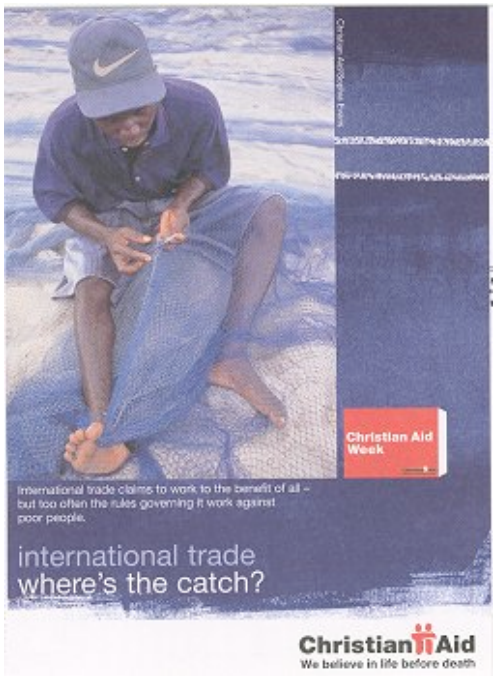
Christian Aid WEEK 12th –18th MAY 2002

'international trade - where's the catch?'



The theme for Christian Aid Week this year is 'international trade - where's the catch?' and focuses on Christian Aid's new trade campaign, Trade for Life. Christian Aid campaigns because it makes sense to tackle both the causes and the symptoms of poverty, also because it's effective. Although Christian Aid spends only 12 per cent on campaigning and education, this work is having a dramatic effect. As a result of campaigning by Christian Aid and other agencies, some of the world's leading governments recently promised to cancel around £100 billion of unpayable debt owed by poor countries. The campaign on trade has even more potential to make life better for poor people. International trade is worth £1.3 billion every day and is growing fast; it has great power and can have a huge impact to improve or ruin the lives of millions of people. At the moment the rules of international trade are hurting poor people instead of helping them. The rules of international trade were shaped by the world's richest and most powerful countries for their own benefit.

THE HOUSE-TO-HOUSE ENVELOPE COLLECTION

We can't make Christian Aid Week happen on its own. In fact, one of the strengths of Christian Aid Week is that it is a communal expression of the Church's responsibility to care for God's world.

Last year Ickenham raised the record sum of £7,000 through the door-to-door collection. This record sum was reached through the generosity of our village community and the sheer dedication and hard work of our hundred and seven collectors and fifteen area organisers. However the familiar red envelope was not delivered to some houses due to shortage of collectors. This year we will be even shorter of volunteers since sadly some are no longer with us, some are unable to collect and some have moved far from the district.

Please volunteer- or ask someone else to volunteer if you're already committed. The most frequent reason people give for not contributing to Christian Aid is 'that they were not asked!' Please help us to cover every house in our village community. We really do care deeply about our 'neighbours', the poorest people in the world.

Christian Aid Week is Christian Aid's main fund-raising event of the year.

If you are a tax payer you are encouraged to complete the gift aid form on the reverse of the envelope. It takes just a moment to do and increases the value of your gift by 30% with no additional charge to, or problem for, you. Last year the additional revenue raised from this government scheme amounted to £675, so you can see that it is well worth the trouble.

If you can spare a few hours to collect please phone Bernard Pearce at 01895 673596

Christian Aid Week- Sponsored Walk

Judy and Bernard Pearce C.A. Walk 2001

Last year those that took up the challenge raised over £900 for Christian Aid and had a thoroughly enjoyable time too.

Whether you decide to cross a bridge or not you can be sure that you will be bridging the gap between ourselves and some of the poorest communities.

Come and join us, and get your friends and relations to sponsor you - forms, map, and details from Judy and Bernard Pearce - phone 01895 673596.

DROP-IN FOR THE BEREAVED. Third Monday of each month. St. Giles' Church Hall, 2-3.30 p.m. A friendly, informal opportunity for a chat, over a cup of tea, with other bereaved people and pastoral visitors. The next meeting is Monday 20th May (also Monday 17th June). Just come along, or ring the Rectory (622970) if you would like to talk to someone first.

ICKENHAM GOOD NEIGHBOUR SCHEME exists to serve the whole of Ickenham. We're here to assist in an emergency. If you need help, the daytime contact numbers are: 01895 633020 or 01895 235061.

FROM THE RECTORY

'The Brits. do these things so well' was the description to me by a US citizen of the arrangements for the lying in state and the funeral of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother. It is, of course, true! We have a long tradition of ceremonial of a high standard which undoubtedly touches the emotions not only of those taking part but of those watching from the pavements or on the TV. I was in France when the funeral took place but coverage by French National Television as well as BBC World was extensive. And quite rightly so. It was entirely proper to give such honour to someone who had given so much by example and by action during her long life. Her presence and influence will be much missed not least by other members of the Royal Family; may she rest in God's eternal peace.

The Easter season continues with its theme of new life through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. Our Sunday gospel readings take us through the post-resurrection appearances of Christ to his disciples. Just when the disciples thought all was lost, the real meaning and purpose of God sending his Son into the world was fully revealed. As a result we too can, like the two disciples on the road to Emmaus on that first Easter Day, walk with God in our own lives. The opportunities to learn more about how to do this are on offer both from St Giles' and the U.R.C. Our study groups, which, in the spirit of our Covenant relationship are all open to members or non-members of either of our churches, are perhaps less formal times when questions can be raised about the meaning of the Christian message now. These groups have just got going again after the Easter break; please ring Richard or me if you would like to know when and where they meet, otherwise see our weekly notices for details.

Greetings and peace to you all.
Philip

FROM THE U.R.C. MINISTER

Ickenham URC has recently welcomed a youth worker to lead our two Friday evening activities for young people, Kidzone and Friday Club. Marc Jacobs comes from Stellenbosch in South Africa, where he had experience working with young people in his church and at school. He was recruited to teach maths in a London school, and after coming to England responded to our advertisement for a Christian youth worker.

Kidzone was started in September 1995 for 7 - 10 year olds, and offers a mixture of activities, games and Christian teaching. It has proved very popular, and led to Friday Club, for 10 - 14 year olds, being formed. A successor to the original leader of Kidzone, Pat Smith, could not be found locally, and it was not able to meet in Autumn 2001. But Marc was able to restart Kidzone at the beginning of March with a team of local helpers, and he is also assuming leadership of Friday Club, which Joyce Wolff has led devotedly until now.

U.R.C. new youth worker Mark Jacobs

We realise that in these days it is not always easy for young people to come to Christian activities on Sunday mornings, and so we are glad to have the opportunity to provide for them on Friday evenings. Kidzone and Friday Club are often full, but if you wish to enquire about them please phone Marc (020 8839 9580) or Anne Whitlam, our Junior Church leader (01895 678169). Older teenagers (14+) are welcome at the joint Ickenham Churches Youth Group which also meets on Friday evenings, at St Giles' Church Hall - contact Mike Bisset (01895 676092) for information.

God bless you all.

READING THE BIBLE

Reading the Bible is like picking up a bare wire
Connected to mains electricity.
Its energy shocks into you with all the strength
Of a new, incomparable experience.
And whatever you were,
Now you are something more.
And whatever you want to be,
Suddenly becomes a much likelier scenario.
For it is in these rich words
That you are extended,
Deepened, rounded,
Shined up and dusted down
With promises which leave their glow behind.
People, dead people, come to vibrant life
In these words.
Living, they stride the long halls of your imagination
Without so much as a by-your-leave.
Stride like lords into your heart and mind.
And lords they are.
Bow before them.
Welcome them.
Rejoice in their sparkling presence.
Glad to know even those whose darkness
Is so complete
It can only smudge other deeper darknesses.
Glad, most of all, to meet the living Lord
And read again the Living Word of eternal love.
`The light shines in the darkness
And the darkness has never put it out.'
Come!
Read the Bible and light up the world!

Gwendoline E Grant.

ADVERT. FILMED IN RECTORY WAY

A thirty second commercial for Direct Line – Jamjar Cars took three days to film during April when residents of Rectory Way were besieged by the crew, its vehicles and equipment. The front room of Bernard and Judy Pearce was used for internal scenes, whilst their front lawn, and that of their neighbours on either side of them, were filled with lights, cameras, electronic equipment and people. When asked why the road was selected the producer remarked that they had looked for a nice, quiet street with plenty of parking space!

The team on the regular Thursday morning dustcart round, and some residents, were not overly amused by this observation!

It reminds one of the joke - How many 'technicians' are required to change a light bulb? Answer – a minimum of five. One standing on the ladder, two supporting the ladder, one electrician supervisor, one Health and Safety Officer . . . . . and in this case thirty-five others standing around chatting on their radios. Doubtless there was a gaffer, rigger, best boy and grip all available if required, and probably desperate to do something useful before withering from boredom!

At one time residents counted twelve assorted lorries, vans and a catering wagon, one double decker bus, the car in the advert. and about thirty other private cars. They used four streets for parking! At the peak of inactivity sixty-three employed persons were counted on, and around, the set.

And you wonder about the cost of car insurance premiums!

ARTS, CRAFTS & HOBBIES EXHIBITION – ICKENHAM FESTIVAL 2002

Organised by Ickenham U.R.C. Stewardship Committee

We remind readers that this well established, and popular, Ickenham Festival Exhibition will be held at the Ickenham U.R.C. on Wed. 19th , Thurs. 20th , and Frid. 21st June 2002.

Admission will be free to the public from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and we would like to encourage everyone to come and witness the talent of so many Ickenham folk

We already have many prospective exhibitors, but to broaden the range and variety, would like to hear from those of you engaged in displayable, but less familiar, arts crafts and hobbies.

The event will be stewarded and we would welcome volunteers to help, for an hour, with this important task.

Ickenham Churches' Women's Group will be serving cream teas during the afternoon of Thurs. 20th and Frid. 21st . Coffee will be available each morning and all the proceeds will go to charity.

Prospective exhibitors and Stewards should contact Tim Playle on 01923 821886 or write to him at 12 Drakes Drive, Northwood HA6 2SL.

SHOCK PLANNING APPLICATION

For Ickenham Garden Centre Site

Ickenham Garden Centre - High Road

On hearing that a planning application had been made to Hillingdon Council to 'bulldoze' the entire site of the Garden Centre in Ickenham High Road (including the historic Pete Cottage) furious Ickenham folk began to organise in support of the proprietors David and Jenny Edington who are fighting to stay in business.

Feelings are running high, in Ickenham, that the Garden Centre, and cottage, should remain intact as an important local amenity near to the northern end of Ickenham Conservation Area.

A 2,000 name petition was gathered very quickly and over 200 letters of protest were sent to the Planning Office in the Civic Centre by 27th March. The same day edition of the 'Gazette' carried the story and a photograph.

Pete Cottage, High Road, Ickenham

The Parochial Church Council, and Ickenham Residents' Association both objected to the plan which involves building ground floor offices with two-storey flats above on the razed ground.

David and Jenny have been overwhelmed by the support they have received thus far.

Last month's I.C.N. contained a 'flyer' providing information on how to oppose the planning application should you wish so to do. The website carried this information as well. Uxbridge planners were scheduled to meet on Tuesday 23rd April to discuss the situation, but we gather that this has now been put back to some time in June. In the meantime letters of protest now equal more than 400.

JUBILEE WORSHIP PUBLISHED

1977 Silver Jubilee Fancy Dress Competition. Ickenham Olde English Fayre in the grounds of Swakeleys Manor. Miranda Gold, Sarah Kelly and Caroline Trott.

The official worship material for the Queen's Golden Jubilee was published recently.
Churches Together in Britain and Ireland (CTBI) were invited to produce a resource for the services to be held this summer, which includes a Gaelic Blessing, a Welsh Blessing and prayers from the Scottish tradition.
The booklet is a celebration of the Queen's reign and Christian witness, incorporating the "Jubilee themes of thanksgiving, community, service, commitment, and jubilee concepts themselves."
In a prayer of Thanksgiving and Confession, the Queen is praised for her "dedicated service to the nation, her commitment to family life."
It thanks her for providing such a strong personal testimony of her Christian faith, and acknowledges the cultural diversity, which "makes up the rich pattern of our national life."
Congregations across the Commonwealth have already been asking for the material, and the Presidents of CTBI are optimistic that it will be widely used on June 2.

They said: "The worship material draws on the life and culture of the various parts of the United Kingdom. At the heart of the Thanksgiving Service are thoughts and prayers woven around the symbols of the Coronation.
"Symbols often speak more deeply than words and can help us to commit ourselves afresh to serve our local community, the nation and the world."
There is a modern feel to the music, which has been penned by popular songwriters such as Timothy Dudley-Smith, who has composed a hymn especially for the Jubilee celebrations. Yet old classics such as "Tell Out My Soul" are also recommended, and alternative sung responses to the Intercessions are provided at the back of the booklet.

SPECIAL, COLOUR EDITION OF JUNE I.C.N.?

Thought is being given to publishing a colour edition of I.C.N in June to commemorate not only the Queen's Golden Jubilee but also Ickenham Festival 2002. This venture will depend mainly on having appropriate colour photographs of previous, and similar, celebrations to print. If you have stories and photos of such Jubilee events, then the editor would like to receive them very quickly. Many kind individuals, Societies and Companies make regular donations towards our running costs and a note of them is made monthly in 'Parish Pump'.
Should you wish to make a donation to the running costs of the magazine this can be done either by making a cheque payable to 'St. Giles' P.C.C. (I.C.N.) and posting it to the editor, giving it to the person who delivers your magazine, or leaving it in the Editor's pigeon hole in St. Giles' Church.

AGELESS

ANOTHER APOCRYPHAL STORY

While waiting for my first appointment in the reception room of a new dentist, I noticed his certificate, which bore his full name.

Suddenly, I remembered that a tall, handsome boy with the same name had been in my secondary school class some 50 years ago.

Upon seeing him, however, I quickly discarded any such thought. This balding, grey haired man with the deeply lined face was too old to have been my classmate. After he had examined my teeth, I asked him if he had attended the local school.

"Yes," he replied.

"When did you do your A-levels?" I asked. He answered, "In 1952."

"Why, you were in my class!" I exclaimed.

He looked at me closely and then asked, "What did you teach?"

MAY DAY

What happened to those idyllic days of old? Picture a village green. There are no cars... no congestion. With one exception. In the centre of the greensward stands a maypole. Around it gather the villagers. All are dressed in fine clothes. Over in the background is a stall with toffee apples on sticks. A space is left encircling the pole.

Boys in white shirts and girls in frilly frocks stand ready for the dance. The fiddler takes his violin and bow. He draws an introductory note. The kiddies bow to the crowd, then take a ribbon apiece.

The fiddler begins his tune and the dancing commences. Fastened to the top of the maypole, brightly coloured ribbons entwine into a pattern as the little folks dance their ways in, out and around the pole. Soon the ribbons become shortened as they are plaited together.

But this is no hopeless tangle. The fiddler pauses with a flourish. As he recommences the dancers reverse their dance pattern and by the end of their efforts the ribbons are once again straightened out, falling neatly by the side of the maypole.

The children bow. The villagers applaud.

When life becomes a tangle of expenses and holidays, ageing parents and subsidies for youngsters college fees, life's once simple pattern can become twisted out of recognition.

The Disciples tasted this when they tried to restore to sanity one small boy. All their calculating seemed worthless. His father cried out to Jesus, 'I've brought to you my son who has an evil spirit'. Mark 9 v 17.

To the disciples, the lad's life was a hopeless tangle of diseases.

They came to the only one who could sort it out. One phrase from the Saviour restored everything. There's no May-be with the Lord.

WOMEN IN THE BIBLE

Mary and Martha : Luke 10: 38-42

The story of Jesus' visit to the home of Martha and Mary is not just about two women with very different temperaments! Significantly Luke locates this meeting on Jesus' final journey to Jerusalem, indicating that the story tells us what it means to be a disciple, a follower of Jesus.

Meals Demanded

Martha and Mary lived in Bethany, and offered hospitality to Jesus and his disciples. The conventions of the day demanded that all these guests should be fed, therefore placing a heavy burden on the women of the house.

* How important is hospitality in our Christian service?

Martha's Distraction

No wonder Martha was 'distracted' (literally: to be pulled, dragged away) with all the preparations. She complained to Jesus, telling him to get Mary back to work. While she wanted to listen to Jesus, her role as a good hostess dragged Martha away. We too can find that the important or urgent things in our lives prevent us from hearing Christ's word for our lives.

* What things prevent us from spending time with God?

Mary's Devotion

By contrast, Mary 'sat at the Lord's feet listening to what he said'. She assumed the customary position of a student learning from their teacher. Even though only men usually took this role, Jesus commended her, as she had chosen 'what is better, and it will not be taken away from her'. Jesus didn't condemn Martha for her serving, as both sisters were expressing their deep love for Jesus. However, he did remind Martha that 'only one thing is needed'. Mary made the better choice, because she chose to serve and listen.

* How can we give more space to hearing what Jesus is saying to us?
